2. Port Traffic and New Construction

[REDACTED] An extension of the quay, [REDACTED] 25X1

is being constructed, large rocks being broken down to fist size in a crushing machine and dumped with cement to form the seaward extension. About 100 feet of the extension have been constructed and approximately 150 men and women work all day and during the night by floodlights. From one thousand to three thousand one-story brick row houses 15 to 20 meters in width have been constructed as workers' homes in the area [REDACTED] 25X1

3. Social Conditions

The local people seem more satisfied now than ever before and there is almost no stealing, cheating or crime of violence in China today. If [REDACTED] 25X1 is rude to a Chinese, a group of Chinese quickly gather around him and ask why he was rude. All petty thefts are thoroughly investigated. A one-story 20 x 30 meter building, [REDACTED] served as a seaman's club, where souvenirs, silk, tea sets and jewelry could be bought cheaply. Chinese were not allowed to buy there. The club was very clean with flowers planted outside and decorating the inside. A restaurant served good Chinese food inexpensively. [REDACTED] no social activities involving mixed groups [REDACTED] in the club. 25X1
